The art of being

(site)

Surround yourself with dreams and hopes!

The reason why I want to take part in this project and why I would be a good candidate:

Well, it is quite simple: I want to have the opportunity to develop in this field. I have always been the curious type, trying to get a piece from everything that presented interest to me. This projects appears to be the best chance to do that before college. My curiosity has unfortunately come with a negative side: the fact that I tend to be a tad indecisive. I believe that this opportunity will not only bring me closer to achieving my dreams, but it may also prove that I had made the right decision about my career. I would finally be able to apply myself in this field!

Another aspect that motivates me is the social part of this project. I am thrilled that I would get to meet so many new people and interact with students that share the same passions and visions as I do. I have not always been like this, though. I used to be terrified of communicating, but now I am so far away from that initial state, owing to the fact that I engage in all kind of activities.

I am determined, even when the most difficult situations appear on my path. I would do whatever is possible in order to achieve my dreams and hopes, passion taking over, highly motivating me. Not once have I hesitated in front of incertitude. I always try to keep my head up and solve problems, one by one, until everything is untangled.

I could not imagine my life without challenges, and I believe that the 4IT Erasmus+ project would be the greatest one for me!

PHOTOGRAPHY

I have loved taking pictures since I was 12, but I have really started to apply myself in this field in 2023. It is capturing unique moments and freezing them in time that utterly captivates me. I adore seeing the face of people after they see themselves laughing uncontrollably and the fact that they didn't think they would ever get to relive that moment.

It is said that a picture is worth a thousand words. I could not agree more! I have seen pictures that made me cry, I have seen pictures that made me laugh, I have seen pictures that made me hurt.

I believe that this love for photography was born from the desire to create something that would have an impact on others. I really hope I did.

I have had to make many decisions up to this moment. Some I regret, I am proud about some, but there is one that has only brought me happiness: joining I.D. Fest, as a member of the photography team. Until applying for a place in a volunteering team, I have not realized how important it is to be of help to others. In my 3 years of activity I have realized our significance in the lives of these vulnerable people: both children and elderly persons. The smile of a little girl, while handing me a piece of paper with a heart drawing on it, has made me believe that if I do have a purpose, it is to make everything possible in order to give these kids a part of my soul, a part that they had healed, with the hope that it might also heal a piece of their troubled soul.

Introduction Who am I? Contact

I have always had big dreams, and I have always believed that if I were to achieve all I have wished for, I would finally find happiness. But that was not true. Growing up, a realization hit me: happiness had always been there, hidden in a corner, waiting for me to understand what was really important in life: never giving up. Even if the result of a process disappointed me, I managed to find joy on the journey. I strongly think that this also applies here. I will do everything I can to prove the fact that I deserve my participation in this project, but even if that is not going to end the way I want it to, I will know that I have enjoyed every single part of my path.

Another aspect that was made clear to me was the fact that I love to be surrounded by people. I owe everything I now possess to these extraordinary individuals that have helped me all this time. Friends, family, teachers and classmates. All I can wish for is that one day I will have the opportunity to pay them back!

REALIZARI ÎN DOMENIUL ENERGIEI REGENERABILE SI PACTUL VERDE EUROPEAN

Uniunea Europeană a făcut progrese semnificative în eforturile sale de a atinge neutralitatea climatică până în 2050, concentrându-se în special pe sectorul energetic, care este responsabil pentru 75% din emisiile totale. Directiva privind energia din surse regenerabile a fost un instrument esențial în acest demers, stabilind obiective ambițioase pentru creșterea utilizării energiei regenerabile. În 2009, directiva a stabilit un obiectiv de 20% energie regenerabilă în UE și 10% în transporturi până în 2020. Revizuirea din 2018 a ridicat aceste ținte la 32% până în 2030 și 14% în transporturi. Cea mai recentă revizuire din 2023 a propus un obiectiv mai ambițios de 42,5%, cu un prag aspirațional de 45%. Aceasta include măsuri pentru accelerarea autorizărilor și stabilirea de obiective specifice pentru diverse sectoare, precum industrie, clădiri, transport și cercetare. Directiva joacă un rol crucial în sprijinirea tranziției UE către o energie mai curată și în consolidarea independenței energetice.
